SOURCE 1 - organiser's planning note
The community centre is planning a monthly repair morning. Volunteers can demonstrate simple sewing and help residents assess everyday items. Electrical work is restricted to a separately approved qualified technician. No repair is guaranteed. Visitors should bring one clean item and register a time in advance. Entry is free; any replacement-part cost must be agreed before work begins.

SOURCE 2 - feedback summary
Feedback from twelve residents: eight wanted a chance to learn simple care skills, three needed clearer information about access, and one asked whether damaged electrical items could be left without an appointment. The organiser said the first event would use a small room with step-free entry, but accessible toilet arrangements still needed confirmation.

1. Identify three facts that a visitor needs before attending.

2. What safety distinction must the new text preserve?

3. What access detail remains unconfirmed?

4. Why must the twelve responses not be described as the views of all residents?
